I do hereby certify to the public, that a child of mine, four years old, being troubled with worms, I was induced to purchase a bottle of Dr. C. McLane's Vermifuge, prepared by Fleming Bros. of Pittsburgh, Pa., which I administered, and the result was, it brought away an immense number of worms in bunches and strings, many had the appearance of being cut to pieces. My child is now enjoying most excellent health. I take pleasure in recommending it to both young and old, as one of the best medicines I ever used.

WASHINGTON.

The Silver Question again Before the Senate.

A DISCUSSION ON THE RULES

The House Consumes the Day in Argument—Provisions of the Fortifications Appropriation Bill—Washington Notes

Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Cameron of Pennsylvania, called up the resolution directing the committee on finance to inquire whether it would be expedient to expend the surplus revenue of the United States, or any portion thereof, for the purpose of reviving the shipping and export trade, by allowing a rebate from tariff duties on foreign goods imported in ships built and owned in the United States, and by also allowing a premium on American grown products and articles of American manufacture exported in American vessels. He addressed the senate at great length on the resolution, and it was referred to the finance committee.

Van Wyck received unanimous consent for the consideration of the house bill to prevent unlawful enclosure of public lands, better known as the "fencing bill." The amendments of the senate committee were concurred in.

THE ANTI-SILVER COINAGE BILL

At 1 o'clock the bill went over, and unfinished business was laid before the senate, being the anti-silver coinage bill, and Mr. Beck proceeded to address the senate.

Beck supported those provisions of the bill calling for redemption of the trade dollar, but strongly opposed the suspension of the coinage of the standard. The proposition to suspend silver coinage had no necessary or proper connection with the trade dollar bill, which the house had sent over. He believed the trade dollar had now passed from the hands of the people, who were compelled to part with them at a discount, and were now in the hands of bankers and brokers. He had felt confident these bankers would be able to make themselves heard by congress, and the result proved that he guessed aright. It was said that trade dollars were not coin of the United States but had been given a legal tender character by accident or inadvertence and that, therefore, we ought not to take them up. There was no accident or inadvertence about it, Beck said. They were made coins of the United States, just as gold was so coined. Provisions prohibiting counterfeiting applied equally to the trade dollar as to the gold eagle. When congress concluded to limit the issue of trade dollars to the quantity required for export, it did not take the coin character nor coin value from them, and certainly as to all those that had actually been issued it could, with no reason whatever, be said they were not coins of the United States. The secretary of the treasury had been constituted by law judge of the number which should be issued, and he had chosen to issue 35,000,000. Beck wanted specially to know what the "inadvertence" was that was alluded to.

Morrill said that by "inadvertence" he (Morrill) meant that as the trade dollar had been minted solely for export it was wrong to have given them a legal tender quality at all.

BECK'S OPINION

Beck said that would be equivalent to saying no silver should be minted at all. The difficulty, he added, was that our own fiscal agents had conspired to defy the laws of the United States, and the present proposition to suspend silver coinage was the result of that conspiracy. He inquired why banks should be permitted to conspire against the laws. There were already laws enough, but not one of our public officers wanted to execute those laws. The people needed new officers.

Morgan said he had, at the last session, submitted a resolution calling for inquiry into the matters alluded to, which resolution had been referred to the finance committee, where it still was. It now appeared, on the statement of a member of that committee (Beck) that the committee was cognizant of the commission of crimes by banks, that the president also was cognizant of it, but the crimes were not punished. Morgan said there was no use in multiplying statutes, merely that the senate of the United States itself might dishonor them by constantly and persistently ignoring their existence.

A DISCUSSION ON THE RULES

The pension appropriation bill was then taken up and a long discussion ensued regarding the interpretation of the senate rule forbidding proposing general legislation on appropriation bills. The discussion arose on a point of order, raised by Ingalls on an amendment proposed by the senate appropriation committee to this bill.

Sherman thought it would be well to pass a new resolution expressing, for the present session at least, the sense of the senate to be that the true construction of the rule was that amendments may be made to the general legislative measures found by the senate on appropriation bills.

Edmunds, taking the floor, spoke strongly against opening the door to any proposition which would permit such amendments. There was no embarrassment, he said, involved in the position of the senate. The way was perfectly clear. All the senate had to do was to strike out all provisions of the objectionable character referred to. There would be no collision or contest between the two houses on the fact of the senate taking that course. The senate was not, by such action, declaring that because the house would not do what the senate wanted the senate would therefore not carry on the government. It would not only be absurd, but wicked to make such a declaration.

THE CHAIR'S DECISION SUSTAINED

Hoar said if the decision of the chair was not sustained, the senate might as well propose an amendment to the constitution, declaring the house to be the only law-making body. Hoar did not wish an extra session, but better an extra session than the practice of attaching legislation to appropriation bills. Hoar, in alluding to the failure of the house to consider the bankruptcy bill, said he did not believe the American people would long tolerate that one of their legislative chambers should be fettered by rules that made it possible for a dozen or twenty men, by methods not in accordance with the spirit of the constitution, to prevent consideration of a measure so urgently demanded by the country.

Bayard strongly urged that the senate take its stand now for the principle incorporated in its rule, which, he said, was a correct principle, without the observance of which all the powers of this government would be resolved into a single legislative chamber.

Hale said if something was not done to relax the vigor of the senate rule, as hitherto interpreted, there was danger that an extra session would be necessary. Were the senators ready for that?

Platt believed the senate had only to be firm once.

After debate the decision of the chair was sustained, yeas [illegible], nays 23. Adjourned.

House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—When the house met this morning, in continuation of Saturday's session, Townshend moved to go into committee of the whole for consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill.

Willis opposed the motion, and argued that the house should continue consideration of the river and harbor bill. After the argument the house went into committee of the whole on the river and harbor bill.

At 12:05 Townshend moved that the committee rise. Agreed to, 123 to 98. Townshend then moved that the house go into committee of the whole on the postoffice appropriation bill. Agreed to, yeas 149, nays 117.

Horr opposed the provision of the postal appropriation bill, which changed the method of compensating railroads for mail transportation. Instead of resulting in the saving of a million and a half to the government, as stated by the gentleman from Illinois—Townshend—it would, in his opinion, increase the compensation to railroad companies. It was wrong in principle and uneven in application, and would rob poor roads and put the excess into the pockets of roads which had already got a large amount. The provision seemed to be based on the principle that "to him who hath shall be given and from him that hath not shall be taken away, even that which he hath."

Pending further debate the committee rose.

A resolution was adopted reserving the whole east gallery of the house for the accommodation of the families of senators and members during the counting of the electoral vote Wednesday next. The house then took recess until 11 to-morrow.

THE FORTIFICATIONS BILL

Provisions of the Measure Prepared by the Sub-Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Horr, Ellis and Hancock, of the house appropriation committee, have completed the fortification appropriation bill, but have not yet reported it to the full committee. It provides for the appropriation of $4,[illegible]5,000. The amount appropriated at the last session of congress for the present fiscal year was $7,000,000. The bill prepared by the sub-committee provides for the protection, preservation and repair of fortifications already begun and continuance of work on them, as well as for the construction of new works of defense at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Hampton roads and San Francisco. For these purposes it appropriates $2,010,000.

AN IMPORTANT RECOMMENDATION

The bill also recommends that for the procurement of heavy steel rifle guns and carriages for armament of deep-water ports of the United States a permanent naval appropriation of $1,500,000 shall be made for five years from June 30, 1886, provided, that insofar as practicable this sum shall be so expended as to induce private manufacturers of the United States who may best be prepared to meet the requirements of the government, or who will agree to increase their plant so as to undertake the work of furnishing necessary material for guns, or sample blank guns of cast or wrought steel. These shall be thoroughly tested by the United States, and, if found satisfactory in every respect, the secretary of war shall contract with the manufacturers who are best prepared to execute the work to the full amount of the appropriation. The guns are to be made rifled, of not less than eight inches caliber, or in lieu thereof the materials are to be suitable for making such guns, all of which shall be of American manufacture.

AN ADVISORY BOARD

For the purpose of aiding the secretary of war in the expenditure and application of the sums recommended by the bill, it is provided that an advisory board of five military officers, consisting of the general commanding the division of the Atlantic, the chief of ordnance, the chief engineer, the president of the ordnance board, and the commandant of the Willets Point torpedo school, shall be created. This board shall examine and report to the secretary of war the different ports where fortifications are most needed, the kind and character of works best adapted to each point, and the amount of the appropriation to be expended at each place; also, the kinds and character of guns, torpedoes and other means and appliances necessary for the defense of the country.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

A DINNER THAT PROVED A FAILURE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—A Washington dispatch to the World says: The dinner given by President Arthur in honor of the justices of the supreme court on Wednesday evening last has created quite a breeze in society circles, through one cause and another. Congressman Dorsheimer of New York, and Henry C. Bowen, editor of the New York Independent, were both guests at the same table. The good-natured president evidently did not know that the two gentlemen had been bitter personal enemies ever since the Beecher trial. To make matters worse Mr. Dorsheimer was assigned a place next to Mrs. Bowen. Just as the dinner was about to close Mrs. Jerome Bonaparte fell to the floor in a fit and remained in that distressing state for twenty minutes. Hardly had she recovered when Mrs. John Davis was taken ill and was removed from the room in a fainting condition by Colonel Bonaparte. The president had retired to the Blue room at this time and was unaware of the unhappy state of affairs in the East room.

YELLOW FEVER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The department has been advised that yellow fever has broken out on the United States steamship Lackawanna, and her commander has been instructed to bring the ship from Guatemala to Acapulco. The Lackawanna took to Nicaragua the members of the naval expedition detailed to make a new survey of the proposed route for the Nicaragua canal. Some anxiety is felt here about the health of the surveying party, but it is believed that they were safely landed before the fever broke out on the ship.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—A call has been issued by the secretary of the national democratic committee for a meeting to be held at the Arlington hotel Monday, March 2. The purpose of the meeting is not stated.

The second trial of General Swaim has been postponed until Wednesday next.

NOMINATIONS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—John W. Haverstick, receiver of public moneys, Los Angeles, California; Edward J. Curtis, Idaho, secretary of Idaho. Receivers of public moneys: Allen W. "THE STYLE OF GOVERNMENT."

OREGON CITY, Feb. 7.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

From "X's" last I am clearly of the opinion that I was mistaken when I said he had awakened from a Rip Van Winkle sleep. He still sleeps and talks in his sleep in a rambling sort of a way.

"X" refers to 16 Wallace 36, which is the report of what are known as the "slaughter house" cases decided in April, 1873, by the supreme court of the United States, to prove his assertion that the government of the United States is not national. "X" never read the report, or is not yet sufficiently awake to apprehend the truths it states. I think the latter.

I quote from the opinion of the court by Justice Miller.

"* * * They have thought to impose additional limitations on the states, and to confer additional power on that of the nation."

Again: "The line which should separate the powers of the national government from those of state governments." Again: "We are not without judicial interpretation, therefore both state and national."

Mr. Justice Field in a dissenting opinion uses the terms "National government," "National authority."

Mr. Justice Bradley, in his dissenting opinion very forcibly expresses the growth of the government: "The mischief to be remedied was not merely slavery * * * but that spirit of insubordination and disloyalty to the national government which had troubled the country for so many years." * * * "The amendment was an attempt to give voice to the strong national yearning for that time and that condition of things in which American citizenship should be a sure guaranty of safety."

He also says "National courts," "National will," and "National interest."

Mr. Justice Swayne also filed a dissenting opinion, and in it says in contending for a more liberal construction of the amendments "without such authority any government claiming to be national is glaringly defective," that is, "to secure to every one in its jurisdiction the rights and privileges enumerated."

If you can possibly get through "X"'s cranium the knowledge of the history of his country for the past twenty-five years he certainly will cease his wailing lament for the "lost cause," the coldest fact of all. "X" evidently is one of those who staid at home during the "dark days of rebellion" and croaked at the nation while its loyal sons were giving life for country. Will "X" never learn that Appomattox settled state rights by the arbitrament of arms—the court of last appeal in national questions—that twenty-five years of legislation and judicial decisions by the government have declared this is a nation—a "cold, solid fact"—that will exist long to enlighten and bless the race of men?

ONE OF THE BOYS IN BLUE.

THE WAR IN CHINA

ANOTHER FRENCH VICTORY

PARIS, Feb. 9.—General Briere de l'Isle telegraphs the government as follows: "Friday and Saturday we destroyed five forts belonging to the Chinese. The enemy had evacuated them without fighting. In the forts we found immense stores of provisions, gunpowder and other ammunition. We reconnoitred twelve kilometers, and found the Chinese retreating hastily toward Langson. Our losses during the engagements were 21 killed and 152 wounded.

HANSOM CABS TO NEW YORK.

THE EAST.

Severe Storm in the Mississippi Valley.

HOW IT MAY DEFEAT LOGAN

General Sherman on the Soudan Campaign—Meeting of Socialists and Anarchists—Movements of the President Elect

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—A snowstorm of great violence is raging throughout a number of eastern and nearly all western states east of the Rocky mountains. In this city business of all kinds is nearly suspended. The snow lies to a great depth on the streets, and street-cars drawn by horses are moving only with great difficulty. In freight-yards in railway stations freight handlers and train employes are engaged in an attempt to clear tracks, passenger trains only attempting to leave. At the signal station news was rather conflicting and confused. This much was authoritative, however. The snow storm has come from the south. It arose in the gulf of Mexico yesterday and has been traveling a little east of north since. The wind is blowing with a velocity of about twenty miles per hour and has gone far to the northwest, the weather being especially fierce in all the lower lake regions from here to Buffalo. It has taken its flight to the St. Lawrence region in a northeasterly direction. This morning the storm had not reached the northern end of Lake Michigan, neither will it reach as far northwest as Duluth, but taking in Wisconsin. While snowing here and all along the lake region the storm has produced rain in the Ohio valley. This being so large a storm, said the signal officer, as to include all kinds of weather in its wake. While snowing fiercely in Buffalo, for instance, it is raining in Pittsburg, but a couple of hundred miles south. The rain extends as far south as northern Mississippi. The actual measurement of the snowfall has not been possible by reason of excessive drifting, but at least six inches fell between the beginning of the storm last night and 6 o'clock this morning. Although the temperature early this morning was five degrees higher by the thermometer than yesterday morning, it is rapidly growing colder in the northwest region, especially in Manitoba, Dakota and northern Minnesota, and the frigid wave is spreading. At Fort Garry last night the mercury had reached 41 degrees below zero, and at St. Vincent 35 below. This excessively cold wave is moving eastward and may be upon us to-night. In this city at noon the mercury stood 20 above.

THE STORM GENERAL.

The storm which commenced Sunday morning extends throughout Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Michigan, Indiana, Minnesota and Wisconsin. In some respects it is most remarkable. The thermometer is below zero in certain points in this state, while at the same time, 100 miles distant, it is raining, with severe thunder storms. The fall of snow ranges from fourteen inches to three feet on the level. All railroads are more or less blockaded and in many sections all freight and passenger trains are abandoned. To-night the fall of snow is continued, and the thermometer marks from zero to 13 below.

THE STORM MAY DEFEAT LOGAN

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Feb. 9.—Much anxiety is manifested lest some of the members of the legislature, who went home to spend Sunday, should be blockaded on the railroads by the great storm, and fail to reach here in time for balloting for United States senator to-morrow. The law requires balloting to take place to-morrow. There are more republicans than democrats absent, and the legislature being a tie, the chances to-night are in favor of the democrats.

GENERAL SHERMAN ON THE SOUDAN CAMPAIGN.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 9.—General Sherman was interviewed last night regarding the Soudan campaign and the fall of Khartoum. He said: "I know something about the situation but of course am not acquainted with all the obstructions that Wolseley and Stewart have to encounter. I believe that Wolseley ought to push on from Korti to Metemneh, and then take the course that seems best, whether to entrench at Metemneh or to push on to Khartoum. The position is peculiar. The separation of the English forces was a national disaster, but every commander marching through a barren land is seized with the temptation to divide his forces. The wet season begins in April, and reinforcements will not reach the scene before that time. When I was in Egypt I met his highness, the late khedive, who manifested a great deal of friendship for me. At his request, on my return to America, I set before a number of officers the advantage offered by service in Egypt. I think about forty, or nearly that number, entered the khedive's service, in consequence of my effort. Some time later there were financial difficulties, and the American officers did not get their pay, although other foreigners did. General Gordon wrote to me, detailing the circumstance, and I interested myself in the matter. The Americans were paid."

SOCIALISM AND ANARCHISM

PITTSBURG, Feb. 9.—Between fifty and seventy-five members of the International Workingmen's association met in Jefferson hall, Allegheny City, to-night, to discuss socialism and anarchism. Joseph Frick and John Staub made lengthy addresses. Frick spoke in German, and denounced the United States senate for passing the dynamite resolutions. He said the senators were all millionaires, and that they were playing police for England. As a poor man could not get rights by law and order, he advocated murder and revolution. Staub spoke in the same strain.

Anarchists refrained from holding a meeting this evening, as was intended, in consequence of the strong guard around the Place de l'Opera. Three anarchists were arrested.

CLEVELAND AGAINST SILVER

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—James M. Brown of Brown Brothers & Co., Charles M. Fry, president of the Bank of New York, and John A. Stewart, president of the United States trust company, who are all opposed to the continued coinage of silver dollars, tell the Herald that the president elect entirely agrees with them and that he will urge his views in this matter on congress after he becomes president. Until he is inaugurated he considers himself to be only a private citizen, with no right to try to influence legislation.

GENERAL GRANT

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—General Grant, in an interview, said: "I am feeling quite well, but my physician has positively prohibited my leaving New York until the weather becomes milder." Intimate friends of the general said last night that the wish which for years had been nearest his heart is that he should be placed on the retired list of the army, simply as an act of justice. His disappointment that it has not already been done is keen.

THE NEXT CONGRESS FOR PROTECTION

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The American Economist has been interviewing members of congress with the following result: new members for protection, 7[illegible]; reelected members for protection, 88; total, 167. As the whole number of members in the house is 325, a majority of 9 for protection is already assured.

CANNOT INDORSE JEFF DAVIS

TOPEKA, Kas., Feb. 9.—The senate passed the house joint resolution condemning the action of the state commissioner at the world's fair at New Orleans, in joining with others in inviting Jefferson Davis to participate in the reception of Liberty bell.

CLEARING HOUSE RETURNS

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—Managers of the leading clearing houses of the United States report that total gross clearances the week ended February 7th were $7[illegible], a decrease of 28.9 per cent compared with the corresponding week last year.

FIRST DIVIDEND PAID

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The assignee, Lewis May, has begun the payment of the first dividend of [illegible] per cent to the creditors of the firm of John J. Cisco & Sons.

TO-DAY'S WEATHER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—North Pacific coast, light rains. California, generally fair weather.

The clumsy concoctions of ignorant men have sometimes brought disrepute not only on their own worthless medicines that deserve no credit but sometimes with much injustice on really reliable preparations. Ladies should not hesitate about Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for this remedy has been tried, proven and praised for years.

THE PRESIDENT ELECT.

He Leaves the Sage of Graystone and Returns to Albany—How the Day Passed.

YONKERS, Feb. 9.—President-elect Cleveland and Daniel Manning remained at Greystone last night as guests of Governor Tilden. From early morning the Yonkers depot was packed by an anxious crowd, eager to catch a glimpse of the party.

HOW THE DAY PASSED

YONKERS, N. Y., Feb. 9.—From early morning a crowd was around the New York Central depot here, eager to catch a glimpse of President elect Cleveland. At 8:30 o'clock Tilden's private secretary arrived from New York, and was immediately driven to Greystone. The following train brought Smith M. Weed, who at once went to Tilden's residence, as did Hon. John H. Oberly, chairman of the democratic central committee of Illinois. A long consultation followed. At 2:55 Tilden's private coach drew up to the depot and Cleveland and Manning took the train for Albany. The next train was due at the station at 3:30, which is not scheduled to stop until reaching Cold Springs. It is the Albany express, and when it backed up and finally stopped railroad men expressed considerable surprise, but when Cleveland, Manning and Oberly stepped into the parlor car the cause of the stoppage was explained. As they reached the car platform they turned and raised their hats to the gazing crowd, which returned the salute, as the train pulled out of the station. Cleveland and Manning go direct to Albany, beside the above mentioned gentlemen who called at Tilden's. Lamont, in conversation with a reporter this afternoon, said that since Cleveland has been the guest of Tilden there has been no consultation whatever with leading politicians of this or any other state.

AT ALBANY

ALBANY, Feb. 9.—Cleveland arrived from Greystone, home of Mr. Tilden, this evening. He drove to his residence, and subsequently attended a festival at the Leland opera house, for the benefit of the African Methodist Episcopal church.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR

SHORT RELEASED ON BAIL

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Richard Short, who stabbed Captain Phelan in O'Donovan Rossa's office, was released on $3000 bail to-day, after efforts had been made to have the amount reduced to $2000. Dennis Corbet, a West Thirty-ninth street liquor dealer, became bondsman. John Roche, George Smith, "Rocky Mountain" O'Brien and a dozen others accompanied Short across the street to Counselor Oliver's office, where a reception was held. Short received a letter from Cork to-day, informing him of the death of his wife on the 19th ultimo. It is said a dozen persons are ready to make the bail good to Corbet, should Short leave town.

SHOT TWO MEN

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Feb. 9.—A man named Douglass Ennis spent Sunday here, saying he was in search of a man named Chauncey McCallum, whom he would kill on sight, for keeping company with a girl whom he (Ennis) had followed to this city from Memphis. He went to the neighboring town of Danvers this morning, bought a revolver and began drinking in village saloons with John Parr, a farmer, and both got drunk and went to Parr's house. This morning Ennis undertook to load his revolver. Parr objected, and Ennis shot him twice. Parr's son came to his father's rescue, and Ennis also shot him. Both men will probably die. Ennis escaped.

ACCIDENTS

TRAIN COLLISION

GREEN BAY, Wis., Oct. 9.—An accident occurred on the Milwaukee and Northern railroad this afternoon, four miles south of this city. A delayed freight train was run into by a snow plow, smashing the caboose. The accident was due to the blinding storm. J. A. Annis of Depere had a leg broken and received internal injuries. He will probably die. W. J. Bates, publisher of the Sunday Advance, this city, was hurt, but not seriously.

A DISASTROUS FALL

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Feb. 9.—This morning five workmen employed in repairing a bridge over the Susquehanna river were thrown down on the ice by the breaking of a scaffold. The fall was fifty feet and all went through the ice into the river. Two are reported drowned and three rescued in a precarious condition.

CALIFORNIA.

A LETTER FROM GENERAL GRANT

FRESNO, Feb. 9.—Fresno camp of Blue and Gray veterans recently passed resolutions favoring the placing of General Grant on the retired list. A copy of the resolutions was sent him, and the camp has received the following letter from the general in response:

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.

Captain F. S. Dixon, commanding Fresno Camp Blue and Gray veterans—Dear Captain:—I am in receipt of your letter of the 12th inst., inclosing a resolution passed by the camp you command, favoring my retirement, and wish to express my appreciation of it. Coming, as it does, from an association composed of veterans of both armies in the great sectional war, the compliment is greater. I hope the fraternity practiced by veterans of Fresno may be patterned after by all citizens of our country before many years roll over. Very truly yours, U. S. GRANT.

IRON WORKERS ON A STRIKE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—In accordance with resolutions adopted yesterday, the iron-workers, iron-moulders, and boiler-makers of this city, numbering 1500, went out on a strike to-day, refusing to accept a 1[illegible] per cent. reduction on their wages.

FOREIGN DISPATCHES.

Thousands of Troops Ordered to Prepare for Service.

THE BRITISH FORCES VICTORIOUS

Wolseley Sends all Press Correspondents to the Rear—The Policy of the Government in Relation to the Campaign

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Three battalions of guards and four battalions of infantry, including two from Malta and two from Gibraltar, have been ordered to Egypt. Two battalions of infantry and a regiment of cavalry have been ordered to proceed from India to Egypt. The nine battalions of troops ordered from England, Malta, Gibraltar and India are sent at the request of Wolseley. The guards leave England at the end of the present week. Two battalions of English infantry, at present in lower Egypt, will proceed immediately to the Soudan. It is stated that all the forces comprised within the nine battalions to be sent to Lord Wolseley will, after reaching Suakem, operate between Suakem and Berber, with the object of securing possession of the route between those points, and then effecting a complete junction with the British forces on the Nile, both above and below Berber.

Great activity prevails at Chatham, Woolwich and Aldershot, preparations for sending reinforcements to Egypt being rapidly pushed. The Twentieth hussars and the Third battalion of the Rifle brigade, now at Aldershot, a battalion of the Scots fusiliers, a battalion of the Coldstream guards, and a squadron of the Fifth lancers, have been ordered to proceed at once to Suakem.

TO OPEN THE SUAKEM-BERBER ROAD

Three thousand reinforcements, at the urgent demand of Lord Wolseley, have been ordered to proceed as rapidly as possible to Egypt, to open the road between Suakem and Berber. A naval demonstration on the Red sea, to co-operate with the land movement, has been arranged. The government will dispatch several British men of war to that locality. The number of reinforcements already ordered to Egypt is 8000. The war department has completed preparations for the transport of commissary and ordnance service. Vessels are already loading with stores at Woolwich.

A BRITISH VICTORY

Lord Wolseley telegraphs the war office to-day from Korti, as follows: "The advance guard of General Earl's column, consisting of a squadron of cavalry under command of Colonel Butler, surprised a large body of the Monassir tribe, under Wadgum, murderer of Colonel Stewart, encamped at Shakoob wells. The cavalry charged the encampment, and the enemy fled in every direction, leaving behind thirty men killed, a large number of camels and cattle, and many Remington rifles. Colonel Butler captured six prisoners.

WILSON SAFE, AND GORDON PROBABLY ALIVE

It is understood the government has received word that Colonel Wilson, who, after failing to reach Khartoum, was stranded with his entire party on an island in the Nile, is safe.

The opinion prevails at the war office that General Gordon is still alive, and engaged in defending himself in some inaccessible part of the city of Khartoum, where he had prepared refuge for use in emergency.

The Grenadier guards have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness for foreign service.

It is understood orders were given to-day for the dispatch of 10,000 troops for the Soudan.

THE GOVERNMENT'S INTENTIONS.

The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon states that the cabinet has decided that the defeat of El Mahdi is necessary to vindicate England. No immediate advance on Khartoum is considered possible or will be attempted, the Gazette says, unless it is found there is good reason for believing that General Gordon is still holding out with a handful of followers in the mission house in Khartoum, where it is reported he took refuge when the city fell into El Mahdi's hands. In the absence of this Lord Wolseley, it is said, will probably continue to advance by the river until he reaches Berber, where he will spend the hot weather of summer with his army, and wait for the September rise of the Nile before advancing. Two months must elapse before there can be any advance in force from Suakem.

Lord Granville had a long interview with Gladstone to-day.

NEWS FROM GAKDUL.

Before leaving Gakdul, Colonel Butler, of the Royal Irish regiment, was instructed by General Wolseley not to attack the Arabs at Metemneh. Later orders, however, sent to-day, leave Colonel Butler to act as he thinks fit.

The force at Gubat now is 2100 men, of whom 2300 are effective. They have also several guns. All the newspaper correspondents have left Gubat and are returning to Korti. General Wolseley declines to permit non-combatants to remain at the front. It is believed the correspondents will also be stopped from communicating with their papers. The troops at Gubat were in good health at last report, a very few being sick.

THE TORY PLAN

The Marquis of Salisbury will return to London from his chateau in France Thursday. He has called a meeting of leading tories, to consider what line of action to adopt in the coming session of parliament. The tories will support the largest measures of the government to relieve England's position in the Soudan, but will move for the appointment of a committee of inquiry into the responsibility for the dispatch of the Nile expedition. General Wolseley's friends state that he undertook the Nile route against his own opinion, which was in favor of the Suakem and Berber route, and the government, for the purpose of economy, broke its promise to supply the number of troops for which he asked.

AN APPEAL TO PATRIOTISM.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Earl Rosebery, in an address to liberals at Epsom last night, said the Soudan catastrophe had been sent to test the spirit of patriotism of the country. A hundred years ago England suffered humiliation as great as any in history. She had just signed a treaty giving over her fair provinces, now the United States of America, to independence, and was compelled to surrender to a successful rebellion of her own subjects. Her armies had been decimated, she had £30,000,000 of floating unfunded debt, and was unable to send an army into the field. British statesmen scrupled not to say that the sun on England had set never to rise again, yet within nine years England commenced a great war with France, which proved the most gigantic and successful she had ever undertaken, and which left her the leading power of the world. It behooves Englishmen to present an undivided front to the enemy.

THE KHEDIVE ON THE SITUATION

CAIRO, Feb. 9.—In an interview to-day the khedive said he believed General Gordon is still alive, as the Mahdi was too wise a man to kill him and had no interest in wishing his death, but, on the contrary, would do all in his power to prevent such an occurrence. Instant action on the part of England, he said, is necessary to prevent further progress of Mahdi's course and avert new disasters, and abandonment of Soudan by England under present circumstances would be a grave mistake. The tribes hitherto friendly to Great Britain would now join the Mahdi, and if England does not take immediate steps to crush him, his influence may seriously threaten the stability of the British empire in India.

ENGLAND

MARK LANE REVIEW

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: Cool rains the past week had a favorable influence on crops. They solidified the ground and the roots of the wheat. The rains prevent threshing, which reduced farmers' deliveries. Sales during the week were 67,913 quarters, at [illegible] 9d, against 48,302 quarters, at 37s 8d the corresponding week last year. The markets continue slow with declining values in the provinces. Prices are a shilling lower for English wheat, and cheaper for any foreign equivalent. Receipts of wheat were moderate, of flour heavy, altogether equal to 7[illegible] quarters. Flour therefore declined 6d to 1s. Mixed American maize sold in London at 22s 1d, ex-ship, while rubbish from Morocco and other inferior round corn fetched 2[illegible]s@27s. Three cargoes arrived off coast, five were sold, two were withdrawn, and one Australian remains. Wheat to arrive is in small inquiry, but prices are hardening. Barley is very slow. Oats are firm, but quiet. Beans and peas are unchanged.

EXAMINATION OF THE DYNAMITERS

They are Charged with Treason Felony and again Remanded

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Further examination of James J. Cunningham and Harry Burton, charged with conspiracy in causing the explosion at the Tower, began to-day in Bow street police court. The room was crowded with spectators, but no unusual demonstration was made. Harry Burton declined the services of counsel and said he would defend himself. Poland opened the case for the crown. He created a sensation by immediately announcing withdrawal of the charge of conspiracy and substitution of that of high treason and felony against both prisoners jointly under the new indictment. The solicitor proceeded to state the testimony the crown would produce would sustain the charge of high treason and felony against the prisoners. In doing this Poland of necessity repeated the history narrated at the former examination of Cunningham and Burton.

THE TESTIMONY

LONDON, Feb. 9.—In the Cunningham-Burton examination to-day, Miss Cannon, considered one of the crown's most important witnesses, refused to swear to identify a trunk, causing the prosecution considerable disappointment. Detective Roper testified that he saw Burton and Cunningham conversing on the 10th of January, in High street, Aldgate. Burton denied this, and declared he never saw Cunningham before he entered the dock to-day.

After the testimony of different landladies, the brown trunk, brown box and Gladstone bag, which have figured so much in the case, were produced, the police having traced and secured them all. Their exhibition produced a mild sensation.

A cabman named Bacon, being shown the trunk, swore it was the exact size, color and shape of one he took to the Prescott street house. Crosbie, the cabman who carried Burton from the railway station to his lodgings in Turner's road, testified that the trunk was the same he took from the Prescott street house for Burton, on a journey. Crosbie was specific in his statement, and said he stopped for the trunk about 10:30 at night, on the 12th of January. Burton denied Crosbie's statement, repeating his own former story, and said the trip to Turner's road was made at 7 o'clock in the evening. Crosbie said he could prove he was at home at that hour on that day.

THE PROSECUTION

Before asking for the remand of the prisoners, Mr. Poland reiterated the statement that the charge against the prisoners was high treason felony, a capital crime, for firing the Tower of London by an explosion of dynamite. It was, he said, a curious fact that dock laborer Cunningham and carpenter Burton had been able to make frequent trips between America and England, their visits to England coinciding with the times of explosions at Carleton club and elsewhere. The complicity of the prisoners was becoming daily more clear.

Dr. Dupre, government chemist, declared the instruments found among Cunningham's effects could not be bought at retail, and would not cause an explosion without dynamite.

The prisoners were remanded until Monday, when testimony will be brought against them to convict them of complicity in causing the Gower street explosions.

Cunningham, it is said, has two sisters in the United States. One of these lives in Brooklyn, and the other in the Hygienic hotel, New York city. He has three other sisters, two of whom are married and all of whom are living in Ireland, where their mother resides. In New York Cunningham worked for a man named Driscoll. Burton has no relations in America, so far as known. It has been discovered that he visited the parliament building last summer, and was visiting the tower when he arrived in London last January.

CANADA.

TO OUTWIT BISMARCK

MONTREAL, Feb. 9.—American capitalists are arranging for the formation of an abattoir company, with a capital of $1,000,000. The intention of the promoters of the scheme is to slaughter American hogs in Canada and thus get around the present prohibitory legislation of Germany.

SERVICES OFFERED TO ENGLAND

OTTAWA, Feb. 9.—It is stated that Colonel Williams has tendered his services and three regiments selected from the Canadian militia for active service in Egypt, whenever the home authorities may require them. The application has been forwarded by the governor-general to England.

FRANCE.

A LAWLESS ACT

PARIS, Feb. 9.—The windows of a gunmaker's shop in Rue de Lafayette were broken this evening by a band of 100 young men, who helped themselves to guns and revolvers. Several of the men, including the ringleaders, were arrested.

PARALLEL LIVES.

Samuel Johnson and Oliver Wendell Holmes—The Autocrat Mourns his Ancient Friend

Dr. Holmes in the Atlantic Monthly.

I have just lost my dear and honored contemporary of the last century. A hundred years ago this day, December 13, 1784, died the admirable and ever to be remembered Dr. Samuel Johnson. The year 1709 was made ponderous and illustrious in English biography by his birth. My own humble advent to the world of protoplasm was in the year 1809 of present century. Summer was just ending when those four letters, "son b.," were written under the date of my birth, August 29. Autumn had just begun when my great pre-contemporary entered this un-Christian universe and was made a member of the Christian church on the same day, for he was born and baptized on the 18th of September.

Thus there was established a close bond of relationship between the great English scholar and writer and myself. Year by year, and almost month by month, my life has kept pace in this century with his life in the last century. I had only to open my Boswell at any time, and I knew just what Johnson at my age, twenty or fifty or seventy, was thinking and doing, what were his feelings about life, what changes the year had wrought in his body, his mind, his feelings, his companionships, his reputation. It was for me a kind of unison between two instruments, both playing that old familiar air, "Life,"—one a bassoon, if you will, and the other an oaten pipe, if you care to find an image for it, but still keeping pace with each other until the players both grew old and gray. At last the thinner thread of sound is heard by itself, and its deep accompaniment rolls out its thunder no more.

I feel lonely now that my great companion and friend of so many years has left me. I felt more intimately acquainted with him than I do with many of my living friends. I can hardly remember when I did not know him. I can see him in his great bushy wig, exactly like that of the Reverend Dr. Samuel Cooper (who died in December, 1783) as Copley painted him—he hangs there on my wall, over the revolving book case. His ample coat, too, with its broad flaps and many buttons and generous cuffs, and beneath it the long still more copiously buttoned waistcoat, arching in front of the fine crescentic, almost semi-lunar Falstaffian prominence, involving no less than a dozen of the above mentioned buttons, and the strong legs with their sturdy calves fitting columns of support to the massive body and solid, capacious brain enthroned over it. I can hear him with his heavy tread as he comes in to the club, and a gap is widened to make room for his portly figure. "A fine day," says Sir Joshua. "Sir," he answers, "it seems propitious, but the atmosphere is humid and the skies are lowering," at which the great painter smiles his smile, lifts the trumpet, and takes a pinch of snuff.

[illegible] massive, deep-voiced dogmatist and hypochondriac of the eighteenth century, how one would like to sit at some ghostly club, between you and the bony, "mighty-mouthed," harsh-toned termagant and dyspeptic of the nineteenth! The growl of the English mastiff and the snarl of the Scotch terrier would make a duet which would enliven the shores of Lethe. I wish I could find our "spiritualist's" paper in the portfolio, in which the two are brought together, but I hardly know what I shall find when it is opened.

Yes, my life is a little less precious to me since I have lost that dear old friend, and when the funeral train moves to Westminster abbey next Sunday—for I feel as if this were 1784, and not 1884—I seem to find myself following the hearse, one of the silent mourners.

The Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 10, 1885

PAY OF STATE LEGISLATORS.

The pay of members of state legislatures varies greatly in the several states. Rhode Island pays $1 per day and eight cents mileage, Vermont, New Hampshire, Delaware, Michigan, Kansas, Nebraska and Oregon pay $3 per day and mileage. The legislators of Alabama, Louisiana, North Carolina, Tennessee and West Virginia draw $4 a day and mileage. In Colorado the pay is $4 without mileage, Kentucky, Maryland, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio, South Carolina and Texas all pay $5 a day and mileage, except the latter, which pays no mileage. Alabama and Florida allow $4 a day and mileage, and Arkansas the same without mileage. Some states pay a fixed sum, Iowa, $550; Virginia $540, Maine, $150, Massachusetts $650, Mississippi, $300, New Jersey, $500, New York $1500, Pennsylvania, $1000, Connecticut, $300; and the last four also allow mileage. While many of these sums seem small, it is doubtless true that most of the states pay more than the average member could earn at home in the same time. In Oregon, Colorado, Georgia and Nebraska, the session is limited by law to 40 days; in West Virginia to 45, in Alabama and Arkansas to 50, in California, Florida, Indiana, Kentucky, Minnesota, Nevada, North Carolina and Texas to 60, in Missouri to 70, in Tennessee to 75, in Virginia, Maryland and Louisiana to 90 days. In all the other states there is no limit beyond the endurance of the members. The Rhode Island legislature meets twice each year. Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York and South Carolina have annual, and all other states biennial sessions. Since the adoption of the present constitution in Ohio, in 1852, but one legislature has failed to hold an adjourned session in the year following the regular session, so, virtually the legislature of that state has annual sessions. All the territories have biennial sessions, except the district of Columbia, which is governed by a board of three commissioners, two of whom are appointed from civil life by the president, and the third is an officer of the engineer corps, detailed by the president.

While the pay of the legislators in all the states is fixed by law as before stated, in many of the states they receive in addition annual passes from the railroads which for many of the members, amount to much more than their regular pay. In New Hampshire and New Jersey, and perhaps other states, the railroads are required by law to furnish passes to members of the legislature and to state officers. If they are to be granted at all the New Jersey method is preferable, for then the recipient of free passes is indebted to the state rather than the railroads for them. But the custom is indefensible, and more honored in its breach than in its observance.

PACIFIC COAST WHEAT TRADE.

In the last annual report of the chief of the bureau of statistics in regard to the foreign commerce of the United States, it is shown that the foreign commerce of California, Oregon and Washington territory is chiefly with the countries of Europe. In that trade the total value of the exports of merchandise during the fiscal year 1884 was $31,225,433, and the value of imports of merchandise only $[illegible],256,311. Including wheat flour, 88.13 per cent of the wheat exported from this coast went to Europe. This trade with Europe gives employment each year to a fleet of about 400 sailing vessels, which pursue the route around Cape Horn. The distance from San Francisco to Liverpool by that route is about 16,000 miles. The average rates which have prevailed for the transportation of wheat during each year from 1878 to 1883 from San Francisco to Europe, per bushel were in 1878, 30.25 cents, in 1879 29.91 cents, in 1880 28.67 cents, in 1881 46.28 cents, in 1882 [illegible], in 1883 25.47 cents. The average rates which have prevailed since January 1, 1884, have been a little lower than those in 1883. The low rates for this period have been the result of a larger than usual amount of tonnage on the Pacific coast and a partial failure of the wheat crop in California. Wheat at San Francisco was for some time held at prices relatively higher than in the English markets. Only one or two shipments, and these in an experimental way, have been made of wheat from the Pacific coast over each one of the Pacific railroads and the result of these attempts has not been such as to warrant the expectation of any considerable grain movements across the continent by rail at least in the near future.

The cost of transporting wheat from San Francisco to Liverpool during the past five years has not varied much from the cost of transporting wheat from Chicago to Liverpool. The highest average rate from Chicago by the all rail route to New York for the period was 31.40 cents for 1880, and the lowest 22.56 cents for 1882, the railroads taking for the last three years nearly two-thirds of these amounts. In other words, for 1883 the rail route from Chicago to New York was 14.6 cents and ocean rate from New York 7.76 cents.

The trade between the Pacific coast and the states east of the Rocky mountains cannot be definitely ascertained, but it is undoubtedly much larger than the trade of this coast with Europe. The traffic of the transcontinental railroads then existing has greatly increased since 1882, and since that time the Northern Pacific has been completed. The grain fleet between this coast and Europe earned $1[illegible],389,813 in 1882. For the same year the total through railroad freight earnings were $1[illegible],455,179, aside from the earnings from express freights, the amount of which is not given.

The Iowa railroad commissioner told the railroad committee of the Minnesota legislature a few days ago what he knew about railroad management. He considered it better to have a board of railroad commissioners with advisory rather than mandatory power, and that it would be best not to arbitrarily fix rates not justified by the experience of railroad operators. Such a commission would be the poor man's protection. Aggrieved persons could send their complaints to the board by letter or on a postal card, with the full assurance that they would receive prompt attention, no matter how small the injury. It was the small complaints which were the most irritating. As an indication of the moral influence possessed by an advisory commission he said there had been 600 complaints made to their board, and in only one instance had the railroads failed to comply with the request of the commissioners, and that there was where there was a misconception of the law. He said that the most important thing to be accomplished by the commission was to study the question of transportation and recommend to the legislature what would be suitable legislation upon the subject. The great evil of railroad legislation had been the lack of information on the part of lawmakers, to enable them to put upon the statute book what would be just and equitable to all concerned. He advised against the adoption of rigid tariff rates upon the ground that if less flexible railroad companies could not [illegible] struggling industries much to the prosperity of the state. He said successful [illegible] the building up of jobbing and manufacturing industries and successful farming will always depend [illegible] a wise discrimination of freight rates.

In a recent sermon the Rev. [illegible] Newman is credited with saying that "the [illegible] utterly grotesque, if not [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] probably. He also [illegible] the early church. There can be no objection to Mr. Newman's holding any views on any subject that he chooses, but there is a very obvious impropriety in his expressing them in the pulpit of a church with which he does not agree.

The national temperance society has addressed the customary letter to Mr. Cleveland asking him for his views on temperance and what is to be his policy with reference to wines on the White house table. No reply has yet been received, and it is a safe guess none will be made. The man whom the "temperance" people have put into the executive mansion will have plenty of wine, and stronger liquors, at his feasts and on his sideboards.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION.

Many eastern papers publish encouraging reports of tendencies toward a revival of business in their respective localities. The recent selling movement and shutting down of production combined have reduced stocks of goods to a minimum, and created a demand which must lead to renewed activity. No boom is anticipated, but a wholesome, steady spring trade is anticipated with a good degree of confidence. Several of the largest manufacturing establishments in the country are starting up again, after a period of idleness and others are preparing to do so, in consequence of orders which are beginning to flow in from the trade.

The New York Times believes that the country has approached very near, if it has not actually touched, the extreme of reaction from the speculative movement culminating in 1881. Capital has accumulated in large amounts, and is awaiting safe and moderately profitable investment. The trade of the country has to a great extent adjusted itself to the conditions caused by the reaction. Liquidation of too extended credits has made great progress if it has not been completed. The large proportion of the labor of the country made either idle or unremunerative by the ruins of the misplaced investments of the speculative period has begun to find steady employment at more moderate wages. An efficient demand for the products of industry has begun to make itself felt in eastern markets. Most of the signs of the times point to renewed activity and the gradual return of prosperity.

Here in the northwest our industries are not varied enough to enable us to catch so quickly the signs of returning activity. The products of our industry are mostly the few staples yielded by primitive agriculture in a new country. Nevertheless, here is a field for the employment of capital in many ways, and capital will be invested as soon as there is some restoration of the confidence that was so rudely shaken by the collapse. Even now, scarce as money is said to be in Oregon, it is more abundant than confidence and this is one of the great factors in prolonging the depression here.

The Connecticut lawmakers are also talking about a convention to revise the constitution of the state. There are a few things that ought to be changed in their constitution, one of which is the system of representation, which gives the smallest town in the state one member of the legislature, but allows only two to a city like Hartford or New Haven. This is grossly unfair, but the small towns have a veto power upon any change which they will never surrender. Another unjust feature of the constitution is the requirement that a candidate for governor must have a majority at the polls or the choice shall be transferred to the legislature. As the republicans are almost certain to elect the legislature, however the popular vote may turn out, they cling to this unjust advantage.

No less than 364 earthquakes have occurred in Canada and the United States, not including Alaska, since 1872. Of these the Pacific slope had 151, the Atlantic coast 147, and the Mississippi valley 66. Thus it appears that an earthquake occurs about once in every twelve days somewhere in the United States and Canada, and about once a month on the Atlantic coast. These are exclusive of the lighter tremors which do not make an impression on observers, but which would be recorded by a properly constructed seismometer, an instrument designed to detect the slighter shocks.

The Salem Statesman of Sunday says: The vote for senator shows that Mr. Hirsch is steadily gaining in strength, and yesterday he added two more to his list, Watt and Williams of Clackamas, making his total vote now 28. He has thus a clear majority of the republicans in the legislature (leaving himself out), and his friends claim that now he is entitled to be considered the nominee of the party, and should gain votes at every ballot from this time on until his election, of which they entertain no doubt.

It is gratifying to learn that the Iowa Press association meditates an excursion to Oregon. Probably it will take place in June. It may be made an event of the highest interest and importance to Oregon and Washington. The Union Pacific and the Oregon Short Line, together with the O R & N company, through whose attention and favor the excursion is being worked up, serve both themselves and the Pacific northwest by such efforts. Oregon and Washington only ask to be known.

After a long contest the Arkansas legislature has promoted James K. Jones from the lower house of congress to the senate. He enjoys the distinction of not having been a "rebel brigadier," but a private in the confederate army. His accession to the senate gives that body three members by the name of Jones, the other two coming from Florida and Nevada. The newcomer is the twelfth member of the house who has been promoted to the senate within the last four years.

It was inevitable that the democrats should avail themselves of precedents established by the republican party during its long lease of power, and so it is not surprising to read in the Atlanta Constitution that "they" are not so much opposed to the deputy marshals in Ohio as they were. Circumstances alter cases. The democrats will need them there hereafter. But it will not profit them to adopt with too much conformity the abuses which they have denounced.

An Arizona editor having got his rival in jail for assault and battery, thus gloats over him: "Our quondam contemporary is lying as usual—this time in jail. We understand that the saloon keepers are moving heaven and earth to get him out, as their business has fallen off since he has been cooped. When he gets out what a thirst he will have."

Gen McClellan is still holding under advisement the invitation to be grand marshal on inauguration day. He is reported to be spending much time studying a map of Washington, laying out lines of retreat, etc.

In Manitoba, where petty malefactors are punished by flogging, a band of young ruffians have been amusing themselves by torturing a cripple.

CHEHALIS NOTES.

CHEHALIS, Feb. 9.

Mrs. W. Lindle is visiting friends in Portland.

Coffin & Allen are building a large vault for their bank.

County commissioners will convene February 18, to accept plans for the new bridge.

Mr. Pearson has entirely recovered from the wounds he received in the awful Pearson tragedy.

The semi-annual examination for applicants for teachers' certificates, takes place this week. School superintendent, A. B. Balch will conduct the examination.

J. Sanders, a saloon keeper who was recently found guilty of violating a city ordinance by keeping his saloon open after the hour of 11 o'clock at night, has appealed his case on the ground that the ordinance conflicts with the territorial law.

The bridge which was washed away in this place a few weeks since is soon to be replaced by a new one, as will be seen by a notice to contractors in THE OREGONIAN. It is hoped that the new one will last longer than did the old one. It was but eight years.

Chehalis lodge, No. 17, I. O. G. T., is in flourishing condition. On last Saturday evening it held its first meeting in the new hall, rent[illegible] of the K. of P. Six persons were initiated on that evening. The following officers were installed for the ensuing term by Miss Mary Wrigley, lodge deputy, assisted by Dr. F. S. H[illegible], acting as grand secretary and Albert Tozier, late deputy of Oregon, acting as grand marshal: W. C. T. [illegible]; W. V. T. Amy Wrigley; W. THE LEGISLATURE.

The Levee Bill Leads to an Angry Dispute.

COX AND PROSSER PARTICIPATING

The Senate Passes the Portland Fire D[illegible] Bill—The House Passes the P[illegible] Amendment Measure

[illegible]

THE DAY'S WORK.

The Portland Levee Bill Causes a Dispute between Cox and Prosser

SALEM, Feb. [illegible]. The [illegible] this [illegible] Cox of [illegible] and Prosser of Washington [illegible] the levee bill [illegible] committee [illegible]. The bill which [illegible] gives the [illegible] to Wallace [illegible]. This [illegible] that the [illegible] shall have [illegible] for its loss by [illegible] law for damage. Prosser [illegible] committee [illegible] favor [illegible] proposition [illegible] and Davenport [illegible] committee meetings the bill was discussed and Cox's objections to it and his purpose to submit [illegible] minority report with Davenport was fully understood. No date had been fixed for reporting to the house, and Cox had not the slightest intimation of the purpose to do so to-day. At about 4 o'clock the speaker called Cox to the chair, the house being under third reading of bills. In a few minutes Prosser asked and obtained unanimous consent to report a bill from his committee, and presented the levee bill without amendment with the committee's recommendation that it pass. Nothing was said about division in the committee, and while it was not specifically so stated, the report was in such form as to be the unanimous judgment of the committee.

Upon leaving the chair Cox took the floor and calling the attention of the house to Prosser's report declared with some display of passion that the chairman of the committee on railways had taken a dishonest advantage of his (Cox's) position in the chair from which a protest was impossible, to present to the house a false report. He said it was done designedly and added a charge against Prosser of direct falsehood.

Davenport followed, declaring that he too was uninformed of Prosser's intention to make any report and that he had been given no opportunity to present his views to the house.

Prosser disclaimed any unfair purpose in the matter and said that the gentlemen ought to have known that he was going to make a report.

Story then asked that the report submitted lay on the table till 2 o'clock to-morrow, and appealed to the house in behalf of the Multnomah delegation to grant this request. The motion was lost.

Cox and Prosser then took the floor [illegible] reiterating their bitter statements when Bilyeu called a point of order which the chair sustained.

Gilbert then said he thought the house was doing injustice to the minority of the committee, a great injustice, and moved that the bill be recommitted to give time for Cox and Davenport to make a minority report. The motion was lost and Prosser's report was adopted as the report of the committee. [illegible] Cox asked to be excused from further service on the committee. Davenport followed with the same request, and both were excused by the [illegible].

Unquestionably Cox was right in this matter. He was right in his opposition to an improper bill that is a protest against an [illegible] to sneak [illegible] this report right in the spirited exposure [illegible] and right in his [illegible] from the committee. He was not sustained because nobody had the wit to propose that the minority be allowed to report at any time before third reading. He has the personal approval, however, of the majority on one of the floor.

MISCELLANEOUS.

[illegible] Story's bill [illegible] Portland fire department charter [illegible] now only awaits the signature of the governor. This measure is simple in its aim to [illegible] the imperfections exposed [illegible]. There was no opposition to it from any source.

The house judiciary committee reported favorably to-day the bill for employment of official stenographers in circuit court. [illegible] salaries of $[illegible] per year [illegible] Judges [illegible] Olmstead and others of the [illegible] for the measure and it stands [illegible].

The bill to submit a prohibitory [illegible] to [illegible] people came up in the house this [illegible] without debate [illegible] [illegible] measure passed last session [illegible] control of [illegible].

THE SENATORSHIP.

The features of the senatorial ballot are practically unchanged since Saturday but there is a great change of tone in the situation, which bodes no good for Mr. Hirsch. The claim of party nomination by a vote is scouted by men who at the outset declined to go into caucus. Not a vote was turned by the majority consideration. [illegible] fixed upon [illegible] on the issue of [illegible] and persons who claim to know say that there are enough who will [illegible] all circumstances [illegible]. One of the many rumors is that Hirsch has still another democratic support to elect when the time comes but this is not probable as a democratic movement in his favor would scatter his republican vote [illegible] part of [illegible]. His position is that of a republican [illegible] claims authority of the party [illegible] of the opinion that he will [illegible] further and possibly [illegible] consideration [illegible].

[illegible] possibility of his success [illegible] [illegible] Williams and Moody [illegible]

LIEUT. SCHWATKA'S RESIGNATION.

It would seem that the whole story about Lieutenant Fred Schwatka's desire to return to the army and his request that his resignation be revoked, was evolved without any foundation by some newspaper writer. Schwatka himself makes the following denial in the form of a letter to the New York Herald:

[illegible] this morning [illegible] correction from Washington about my alleged request for revocation of my resignation stating that the denials are technically correct but essentially [illegible]. As the report was [illegible] [illegible] I have the [illegible] to which [illegible] the readers of the Herald. The facts as obtained from the records of the war department are as follows: In June 1884 I applied to Brigadier General Miles commanding the department of the Columbia for [illegible] leave of absence with permission [illegible] with the understanding that [illegible] the service at the expiration of [illegible]. LOCAL AND GENERAL

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.—C. T. Harris, a prominent dry goods dealer of Tacoma, is in the city, engaged in settling up his business affairs. A few days ago his establishment was closed by the sheriff upon a writ of attachment issued in the suit of Rowland & Purdy, of this city, wholesale grocers, to secure the sum of $ [illegible] alleged to be due and owing to them. The attachment brought down upon Harris all the rest of his creditors, to whom he owed sums aggregating six or seven thousand dollars, and rendered him utterly incapable of continuing in business at the present time or in any way settling his debts except by means of his stock of merchandise. His principal creditor is the firm of Fleischner, Mayer & Co., of this city, to whom he owes about $3000. He was assured by them that they would not have brought suit against him had it not been necessary to protect their interests against the first creditors. Wherefore Mr. Harris considers that he has been greatly damaged in his business, and in consequence has brought suit against Rowland & Purdy for the sum of $10,000. The claim that Harris makes is that the attachment suit which closed his doors is not legal, because payment for the goods which the attachment was to secure was not due, and that, besides, the goods were not furnished to him, but to his son-in-law, who recently went into business, and for whom he had agreed to stand security. The case has attracted some considerable attention in Tacoma. Good legal talent has been engaged on each side, and each lawyer assures his client that he is certain to win the case.

ASSIGNMENT.—L. & D. Barman, whose stores were attached last week, made an assignment yesterday to Samuel Loewengart. Their assets are set down as follows: Goods, books of account and claims due, etc., in store, corner of First and Washington streets, $12,000; goods, etc., in their store, corner of Fourth and I streets, in East Portland, also two horses and wagons, $3600; six lots in East Portland and the improvements thereon, $1,30. Total assets, $[illegible] 30. Their indebtedness is given as follows: San Francisco—W. & O. Steinhart, $12,302 69; Stein, Simon & Co., $80; D. Block & Co., $179; Hyman Bros. & Co., $1360. Portland creditors—Corbitt & Macleay, $1057 [illegible]; First National bank, $925; Joseph E. Smith, $1250; H. Abraham, $941; Alexander Mayer, $2720; M. Levy & Co., $698 40; Aron, Selling & Co., $607 10; H. Rosenfield & Co., $112 90; Neustadter Bros., $1863 38; Thrumhauser & Frohman, $1108 15; M. Seller & Co., $2038 29; Brownsville woolen mills, $[illegible]; Wadhams & Elliot, $1160 34; Oregon City Manufacturing Company, $467 80; Jacobs Bros., $[illegible]; J. McCraken & Co., $50; Fleischner, Mayer & Co., $244 51; Continental Oil Company, $70; William Beck & Sons, $30; C. H. Dodd & Co., $[illegible]; Zan Bros., $16; Blake, Robbins & Co., $14 50; Leo Stearns, $1[illegible]; sundry other claims, $600. Total liabilities, $[illegible],821 27

SOLD THEIR PORK TOO SOON.—Southern Oregon hogs in great numbers came to the packing establishments in this city and East Portland during the early part of the winter, although the price paid was not high when the deduction of freight charges was made, and now the farmers of that section, who were so anxious to dispose of their pork in the first place, begin to realize that they have made a slight mistake. The cry comes up from Roseburg that there is a dearth of hams at which the packers of Portland are convulsed with an overpowering joy. Hams and sides of bacon had accumulated in the packeries here, and there was no hesitancy in announcing that the supply would be equal to the demand. The farmers of that section are now engaged in figuring up how much they could have made if they had waited a little longer and sold their hogs to home dealers, who are now paying profits to packing establishments here, as well as freight both ways over the O. & C. And a paper down there sees once more in all this the grinding hand of the Portland monopolists, without ever stopping to think that a little more enterprise at home would have remedied the whole matter

MACHINERY FOR COLUMBIA RIVER PAPER CO.—The large paper mill now being erected by the Columbia river paper company at La Camas, W. T., is rapidly approaching completion. Two large machines for grinding wood into pulp have already been shipped to La Camas from this city by the steamer Traveler. These machines are fine specimens of mechanical skill and are the only ones of the kind on the Pacific coast. Four large turbine water wheels from the works of James Leffel & Co., Springfield, Ohio, have been received and will be shipped to La Camas this morning. Two of the wheels are fifteen and a half inches in diameter and two thirteen and a half inches. They will run under 110 feet head of water and will furnish a combined driving force of 600 horsepower. A huge boiler, built by the Willamette iron works, is also ready for shipment. This is to furnish the steam for the bleaching and drying rooms. Much of the machinery for the mill has been made in this city by the Portland iron works

RICE AND COTTON IN OREGON.—Secretary Carlisle, of the Portland Immigration bureau, yesterday ticketed eleven people, all intending settlers, to various points in southern Oregon. Two of these were Mr. B. A. Stannard and wife, recently from Texas. For a number of years Mr. Stannard has been engaged in the experimental as well as the practical culture of rice and cotton, and believes that these will thrive best in what might be called semi-southern climates. Of late he has been studying the climate of southern Oregon, and he believes that around Medford is land excellently suited to the growth of rice, especially of a certain variety, which he had great success in raising in Texas. Mr. Stannard is a quiet, pleasant and intelligent man who asks no aid from any one in his plans but with money enough to carry them out proposes to give both rice and cotton a fair trial near Medford.

PRINCIPAL CLAIM SATTLED.—The claim held by Mrs. Elizabeth Irving against the firm of Matlock, McIntire & Co., which had been taken into the court here, was settled yesterday by the payment of $2[illegible] 37 100 by the firm to Bennett & Paxton, attorneys for Mrs. Irving. Matlock is now sick in Victoria, but will return very soon. He went to Victoria with the idea that he could more easily settle this claim there, as Mrs. Irving is a resident of British Columbia. The hotel escapade as telegraphed turns out to be somewhat exaggerated, his reason for hiding being that he did not care to face his partner. All undisputed claims against him, it is said, have been satisfactorily settled. In fact the whole case now appears to be one in which a firm nominally broken against the [illegible] that he could better settle with his principal creditor in person, but his flight only [illegible] matters worse for a time

HELD FOR WHISKY SELLING.—J. [illegible] Bowman, a contemptible scallawag, who, after defrauding several parties here, went up into Yamhill county to try the same game, and who has been hanged about from pillar to post up there and deserted his wife and children at McMinnville, was up before U. S. Commissioner Land R. Beals, for examination on a charge of selling liquor without a license. It seems that he has been acting as drummer for some whisky firm and at the same time selling liquor to private parties. Marshal Varnier of McMinnville, who has been taking care of Bowman's wife and family, caused his arrest, and the evidence yesterday was considered sufficient to warrant the commissioner in holding him to answer

REWARDED WITH A READING ROOM.—A neat building 16x18 feet is being constructed at the Cascade Locks, which is to be used as a waiting room until the O. R. & N. Co's station is built, when it will be turned over to Messrs. Carroll and Brownlee, to be used as a reading room for the employes at the Locks. Messrs. Carroll and Brownlee organized the first party to go to the relief of the snowbound passengers on the O. R. & N. Co's road, and rendered valuable assistance. They have refused to accept anything in the nature of a present in recognition of their services, and the building above mentioned is intended by Mr. Sanborn, under whose direction it is being built, as a testimonial to the employes at the Locks for their efforts to relieve the snowbound passengers

HOW EXEMPTION WORKS.—"I wish THE OREGONIAN would say to the legislature 'Repeal the exemption clause in the assessment law and leave it otherwise untouched.' That will be the simplest and the most just way out of the present clash of opinion on the question of taxation," remarked a well known citizen to an OREGONIAN man yesterday. "Here is a sample of how the exemption clause works. I owned seven lots in this city. Last year I bought two more and went in debt $5000 on them, giving a mortgage. That $5000 just wiped my entire assessment, which ought to be $10,000. Here I absolutely escaped taxation because I am in debt to the amount of less than a third of my possessions."

WANT DEEDS SET ASIDE.—J. [illegible] and C. [illegible] Chamberlain commenced suit in the state circuit court yesterday against James [illegible] et al. for foreclosure of a mortgage. Plaintiffs allege that on the [illegible] of May 188[illegible], they loaned James [illegible] Huebner et al. $2000, receiving as security a mortgage on a piece of land in [illegible]. Defendants subsequently transferred the land to F. N. Sohs, who transferred it to another party, taking a mortgage on it for $1000. Plaintiffs pray that the deeds made by defendants and by Sohs be set aside and the land be sold to satisfy plaintiffs' mortgage, and for such other relief as the court may deem proper.

[illegible] at the [illegible] of this city has [illegible] such huge proportions as to warrant a day of humiliation, confession and prayer. This is the day set apart for that purpose. In addition to the regular evening services, welcome meetings will be held [illegible] from 10 A. M. till 1 P. M., in which a gospel address will be delivered by the pastor, J. A. Henry, on "the Enduement of the Holy Spirit for Christian service." From 12 to 1 will be a general prayer meeting. The afternoon meeting will be held from 2 to 4 o'clock. Rev. C. H. Hobart will preach. In the evening the pastor will preach. The number of converts is rapidly increasing and the general interest in the community is broadening and deepening. Meetings every night except Saturday.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS LET.—The bids submitted to Captain Powell, U. S. engineer, for material and structures for the use of the government on the jetty at the mouth of the Columbia river, have been examined in Washington. A contract for 20,000 lineal feet of piling was let to P. I. [illegible] of Kalama, at six cents per foot, his being the lowest bid. A contract for constructing four barges for stone was let to J. F. Steffen, whose bid was $5,644. Contracts for delivering stone and for constructing the wharf have not yet been awarded, but will probably be let late this week. Work with scows must be commenced before March 17 and completed by April 1

GRACE M. E. CHURCH MEETINGS.—Gospel meetings will be held in Grace Methodist Episcopal church, corner of Taylor and Eleventh streets, every evening of the present week except Saturday, meetings commencing at 7:30. Praise service at 7:15. The meeting on this (Tuesday) evening will be especially devoted to the young people and members of the Sunday school, and a day service will be held in the church parlor to-day at 2 P. M.

W. C. T. U. DELEGATES.—The following ladies were appointed as delegates from the Woman's Christian Temperance union to the State Temperance alliance: Mrs. A. R. Riggs, Mrs. R. S. Stubbs, Mrs. Bond, Mrs. Hodnett, Mrs. Magee, Mrs. Dr. Johnson, Dr. Lydia Hunt, Mrs. L. Johnson for band of Hope, Mrs. M. A. Thomas. The committee on the shield for international exposition reported encouraging progress.

SCAFFOLD FOR MURRAY.—Carpenters were engaged yesterday in building an enclosure within which to erect a scaffold for the execution of J. W. Murray, which will take place on Friday next, unless his sentence is commuted by Governor Moody. The enclosure is much smaller than those built on the occasion of any previous hanging here, and will accommodate but few spectators

SNOW FALL.—Yesterday there was a general fall of snow throughout the Inland Empire, which began toward daylight. One and one half inches fell about Walla Walla, four inches at La Grande and Meacham's, five inches at The Dalles, two inches at Bonneville, and four inches at Union. At 4:30 P. M. the snow had ceased in most places

BOY THIEVES CAPTURED.—Three boys, Michael Smallden, John McLaughlin and Willie Brennan, were arrested last night by the police for stealing a lot of brass from a machine shop in the north end of the city. Smallden and McLaughlin are old offenders having already served several short terms in the county jail for petty thieving

INSURANCE ELECTION.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Oregon Fire and Marine Insurance Company, held yesterday, the following gentlemen were elected to serve for the ensuing year: President, M. W. Fechheimer; vice president, H. W. Corbett; treasurer, W. S. Ladd; secretary, Edward Hall

ST. VALENTINE'S SOCIAL.—Select assortment of valentines at Calvary Presbyterian church to-morrow night, and an unusually fine display of French and other candies, also handsome cakes for sale. These cakes are from some of our best housekeepers, and the opportunity to secure one should not be lost.

MOVEMENT OF SHIPS.—The Fincluine arrived up yesterday and is moored at Columbia dock. The John Nicholson arrived up Sunday night and is lying at Greenwich. The Yosemite went down yesterday, and the Martaban goes down to-day

THE STAGE

THE CASINO.—No other opera has been given in Portland so often, and none is so familiar to this public, as the "Chimes of Normandy," which was produced at the Casino last night to a packed house. Probably half the people who were in the audience can hum the music from first to last and all of them knew just how it should be sung. Hence there was a disappointment in the first and second acts. It was evident that coming so quickly on the heels of "Prince Methusaleum," the Chimes did not have sufficient rehearsal, but this feeling wore off with the last two acts, which went well, if we except the quintette in the castle hall

Miss Winston has been seen and heard in six operas during the past three months, and the Casino's clientele, accustomed all this time to looking at her as a young man, were more than curious to observe how the five feet nine or ten inches of stature could be made to fit the ingenue role of Germaine. In physique, Miss Winston is not the ideal Germaine, but last night's performance showed better than any character the lady has yet essayed here, her versatility. Miss Winston has been in the habit of surprising her audiences with some one bit of artistic work which stands out above the plane of the opera. Last night there were two such surprises: the first, a charming accompaniment of acting to a delightful singing of "Neither Yes, Nor Nay," the second, an introduced ballad, "Tell Me, My Heart," a finer piece of work in the way of vocalization than the famous "I'm in Love and I Love Again." Each was greeted by enthusiastic applause and most hearty encores.

Miss King played Serpolette—the character in which she made her bow to Portland in comic opera. It is one of her best roles, and she imbued it with vivacity that was thoroughly enjoyable, while her singing throughout was excellent. Gaspard does not give much opportunity [illegible] of Mr. Bell's abilities, yet he did the mad scene almost magnificently, and was honored with a tremendous call before the curtain. Mr. Hageman did very well with the bailee and Mr. Valerga's by-play as the notary was capital. Mr. Dickman's difficulty in speaking the English language, no doubt, prevents him doing anything with the two beautiful songs which fall to Grenicheux. Mr. Valerga would do better as the fisherman and this change ought to be made. Neither in acting, singing and Mr. Blair all expectations of the Marquis

THE NEW MARKET.—If the friends of Miss Putnam have had heretofore any doubts of her versatility these doubts were dispelled last evening, when she appeared as Marie in the "Pearl of Savoy." Her appearance in the plays produced during last week have confined her almost exclusively to comedy. Last night she had ample opportunity to convince that in depicting the pathetic shades of life she is as much at home as in portraying the more humorous side of our every day existence. The story of Marie, the [illegible] of Savoy, or as it is called in opera Linda de Chamounix, is familiar to the public, although the drama is comparatively unknown here. The title role admits of a great deal of refined and artistic treatment, all of which it receives at the hands of Miss Putnam. The scene in the fourth act, where, after she has been long isolated from all home associations, she meets with her father, who comes as a mendicant in search of his daughter, was admirably done and won the recognition of a hearty call before the curtain, which tribute was repeated several times during the evening. Her support as usual acquitted themselves very creditably indeed. Mr. Murdoch as Andre, Mr. Devlin as Pierrot, Mr. Emery as Loustalot, Miss Radcliffe as Chonchon and Mrs. Putnam as Margaret are entitled to credit for intelligent and careful interpretations. The same play will be repeated this evening, and merits a large audience. This will be the last performance by this company until Friday evening, as previous engagements compel them to go up the valley for Wednesday and Thursday

GEORGE PARSONS LATHROP

PORTLAND, Or., 8th Feb., 1885

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Your correspondent, Mr. Bishop, is mistaken in regard to the birth place of George Parsons Lathrop. I insisted, "in the French sense, on that at certain, and the event occurred on board the American ship Montreal, John Chadwick master, on the voyage from Boston to San Francisco via Honolulu. Mr. Lathrop's father was, [illegible] Dr. Lathrop, and was a passenger in the Montreal for Honolulu, where [illegible] his profession, and where he served [illegible] January 22, 1851. It was quite an important day for one individual [illegible] the good ship when he first appeared on the stage of life this morning—an ocean born child—a son of Dr. Lathrop, who ought to be christened by Neptune by the name of Montreal. He ought to be made a sailor when he is old enough. Lat. 20 39, long. 152 33. We made Honolulu the next day.

CHINESE FUNERAL

A Street Pageant which Attracted Considerable Attention Yesterday

Notwithstanding the novelty of Chinese funerals in Portland has worn off, such an event always attracts a large number of spectators. Perhaps it is the "new comers" who are interested and turn out en masse to gratify their curiosity, and maybe it is the small army of idlers like to watch the sight just for a diversion, probably a good deal of both. Lee Yin Gow, a member of the firm of Dun, Yin & Co., on Second street, near Alder, was buried yesterday with a moderate amount of ceremony. The day was rainy, the streets muddy, the atmosphere chilly and business draggy. But the customary crowd of whites were on hand all the time. The ceremonies began about 11 o'clock. On Second street in front of the city jail were set three tables, loaded down with things that are good in the estimation of Chinamen. On the first table was a roasted pig and a lamb and pig not roasted. On the next table was a generous supply of cakes with first-class trade marks stamped on the sides. The third table was provided with many flowers and candlesticks and looked quite aesthetic.

About noon a delegation consisting of two very disconsolate mourners, each bowed down with weight of woe and supported by two stout men and accompanied by several priests, all in white robes with cowls, visited the Stark street ferry landing, where a little water was secured in a tin washbasin. The outfit attracted much attention and many guesses were made as to the object in view. One man spoke of the abomination of desolation and the mourners going about the streets and another quoted something about mourning in Ramah, and Rachael weeping for her children, while a third thought the two mourners were Celestial scapegoats who had assumed the sins of their departed brother and were to be turned loose in the wilderness. A politician thought the display had no religious significance but was a sort of rehearsal of some part of Cleveland's inauguration ceremonies and the two broken-down mourners were intended to represent purity and innocence in distress. A reporter whose curiosity was excited by the comments investigated and ascertained that the party visited the river to beg a little water of the devil to wash their deceased friend. From which it is to be inferred that the Chinese with their usual sagacity have already discovered who is at the head of affairs in this county.

After the music had been chanted and prayers said, the procession moved and marched several blocks. It was headed by a mounted vidette bearing a straight bough of green fir, from which hung a motto, shaped like an ordinary thermometer. Another vidette bearing a similar ornament walked near the mounted courier. When the procession halted at the foot of Stark street, the two chief mourners who had been required to kneel several times during the march, looked like they had been rolled in the gutter. Before going on the ferry, the mourners and attendants were placed in carriages and the most interesting part of the display was thus shut from sight

THE EAST SIDE

AFTER THE BEAN SHOOTERS

The bean shooting nuisance has of late reached that degree of annoyance which renders steps for its abatement necessary. The matter being called to the attention of Prof. Wetzell, principal of the public schools, he made a swoop on the boys at the Central school and disinterred about a dozen of the obnoxious articles that lay snugly buried in different recesses of their clothing, despite their emphatic denials of possession, and destroyed them—that is the bean shooters, not the boys, the latter only receiving a severe reprimand for their willful violation of the rules. But the matter did not end here, Justice Simpson being next called upon to interpose an official check to the nuisance. Complaint was filed by an aggrieved party against several of the offenders, but their parents interceding the case was finally compromised upon payment of costs, in order to avoid arrest and disgrace. There is a determination on the part of both school authorities and citizens to arrest the offense if it can only be done by arresting the offenders. This being the first offense names are omitted

SHARP PRACTICE

On Friday last a verdict for $11 was rendered in the circuit court against Frank Levine of East Portland and [illegible], for his share of the costs of a survey made east of this city in order to determine the division line of adjoining lots. Levine protested that he withdrew from the agreement for certain reasons, but Mr. [illegible] M. Carpenter and the interested party denied his right of withdrawal and brought suit to recover his share of the expense of the survey, with the results [illegible]. Judgment in the writ was not [illegible] yesterday, and be [illegible] his property to confess judgment in Justice Simpson's court in favor of [illegible], and an execution was issued in accordance therewith on the goods and [illegible] of the St. James hotel, corner of L and Water street, of which Levine is proprietor. Last evening the goods so attached were being removed from the hotel and deposited in the Humboldt brewery building, and the chances for Carpenter's recovery appear slim. It is also said that one Murray, a son-in-law of Carpenter, and who is in league with Levine, was in charge of a team and wagon belonging to Le[illegible] time immediately [illegible] and hired [illegible] through [illegible] for the purpose of disposal, but it could not be ascertained if such object was effected. Carpenter will not relinquish the case while there is any prospect of legal redress, and further developments may be expected

COMMUNICATIONS

From the second assistant postmaster general stating that the postmaster at Portland had been authorized to expend an amount not exceeding $[illegible]00 to move any delayed mails.

From J. H. Flagg, asking the board to join in securing the passage of a bill repealing certain sections in regard to tin plate duty

From Senator J. N. Dolph, saying that he and Captain John Mullan had represented the board in the national board of trade convention, and giving certain information already published in the daily press

LETTER FROM SENATOR DOLPH.
UNITED STATES SENATE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3, 1885.

To Donald Macleay, Esq., President Board of Trade, Portland, Oregon. Dear Sir: In pursuance of your request by telegraph I called to my assistance Capt. John Mullan, and he and I represented the Portland board of trade in the national board of trade, at its late annual meeting. I introduced and supported in a brief speech a resolution declaring the necessity for the improvement of the Columbia river and the Columbia river bar, and recommending sufficient appropriations for the speedy completion of the work on the improvements already commenced upon the river and bar at the earliest practicable time consistent with the economical expenditure of the appropriations. The resolution was unanimously adopted. I am promised by the stenographer who reported the proceedings that I shall be permitted to examine the report of my remarks when extended from his notes.

If I get the opportunity to do so I will have the report of my speech printed and send it to you. I also on yesterday attended the meeting of the committee from the various boards of trade of the country on the bankruptcy bill at the Riggs house. No action was taken except to appoint committees to take steps to secure the taking up of the bill by the house for consideration to-morrow. I have little faith in the success of the effort. Yours truly
J. N. DOLPH

From Captain William O'Connor, regarding the immigration board, and offering extended suggestions as to the mode of its operation. Referred to the immigration committee.

From the local traffic office of the Union Pacific railroad giving information of a proposed press excursion from Iowa in June next and asking the board to assist in receiving the excursionists here, referred to B. Campbell for additional information

C. H. Dodd moved that a vote of thanks be tendered Senator Dolph and Capt. Mullan for services at the national board of trade convention

A communication from the Coeur d'Alene Steam Navigation company regarding the Coeur d'Alene mining fields, giving a description of the trails now leading into the mines. It is proposed to construct a good wagon road from Kingston into the mines and by doing so secure to Portland the trade of the mines. The road can be built for $10,000, and Portland merchants are asked to aid in contributing this sum. The board of trade is asked to endorse the wagon road project.

Remarks bearing upon the communication were made by C. H. Dodd and James Steel

Mr. Dodd moved that the board endorse the project.

Mr. Steel wanted a subscription committee appointed by the board.

Mr. Macleay thought that committees were becoming too common

Mr. Dodd's motion was carried

Bernheim & Manner, Gerdes & Bottefohr and S. J. Gorman were elected members of the board

Geo. Pope & Co. made application for membership referred

D. P. Thompson presented a resolution to the effect that J. P. O. Lownsdale, F. K. Arnold and D. C. Ireland be appointed a committee to solicit funds to pay for printed matter regarding Oregon for distribution at New Orleans. Resolution adopted.

D. P. Thompson, of the immigration committee, reported progress of the state immigration bill. Adjourned

A VETERAN OF MANY WARS.

Major August Thieman, late of the United States army, is now living in this city. In conversation with a representative of THE OREGONIAN he referred to his long experience as a soldier, a brief record of which will be of interest to many of our readers. Major Thieman was born in Germany in 1817 and came to this country in 1834. In 1840 he enlisted in Troop I, 1st Dragoons, served in the Mexican war, and afterward came to Washington territory and was with Colonel Steptoe in his famous massacre and in battles with the Indians in 1856, '57, and '58, in six days' fight at Lower Cascades, in a massacre of Indians at Upper Cascades, a two days' fight at The Dalles, a three days' battle at Five Mile Creek, W. T., a two days battle at Steilacoom, W. T., a four days' battle at Walla Walla, a two days battle at Dry creek at the Touchet, at Snake river, at Four lakes, now Medical lake, at Edson camp, at Polus river, at Hangman's creek, a nine days' battle at Spokane Falls, where our troops killed 1,000 horses and 200 cattle captured from the Indians and eight days battle at Coeur d'Alene mission, a four days battle at Grand Ronde valley, a two days battle in the Blue Mountains, a five days battle at Powder river, and in the massacre at Malheur river, where 91 Indian families were killed

During the civil war he fought at Yorktown, Williamsburgh, White House Landing, in the seven days battles under McClellan from the Chickahominy to Malvern hill, the second battle of Bull Run, South Mountain, Antietam, Snicker's Gap, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Kettle Run, the Wilderness and Spotsylvania Court House, Cold Harbor, in front of Petersburg, Weldon Railroad—in short in all the engagements in which the Second corps participated from 1861 to 1865. He was also on duty with Gen. Miles at Fortress Monroe in charge of Jefferson Davis and Clement C. Clay. He was appointed second lieutenant, Twelfth infantry, November 6, 1862, captain Thirty third infantry, July 28, 1866, and brevet major for gallant service at Weldon Railroad 1864

While serving as an enlisted man he was injured by falling through a hatchway in the steamboat Black Hills, while the boat was on fire in the Missouri river and received a gun shot wound through the right leg at the second battle of Bull Run. He was wounded as a commissioned officer through the left cheek at Gettysburg, received a shell wound below right hip in front of Petersburg and a wound in left groin at Weldon Railroad, his horse being shot at the same time. Major Thieman is now suffering from these wounds the total loss of of his left eye and partial loss of his right eye, besides other serious disabilities. He says that he entered the army because he liked the service, and now in his old age he lives to tell the glorious tale

EPPS'S COCOA.
BREAKFAST
By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame.—Civil Service Gazette.

TUESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 1[illegible], 188[illegible]

COMMERCIAL.

[illegible]

In the [illegible] salmon [illegible] Astoria [illegible] cases [illegible].

[illegible] for three years past 188[illegible] showing a [illegible] over [illegible] year [illegible] was but [illegible] gallons [illegible] when it was 400 [illegible] it was down to [illegible] gallons. The importation of [illegible] since [illegible] has varied greatly [illegible] 41[illegible] for that year and 30,42[illegible] for 1884. It will be seen that these figures are very nearly the same. The largest import year was 1[illegible] when 5[illegible] gallons were imported and the lightest year 18[illegible] when it was down to 20,8[illegible]. In the last ten years a wide range is shown. This [illegible] recorded in the past thirty five years the price at [illegible] several West India islands [illegible] including cost of package and freight, to say nothing of land carriage and export duty. Foreign molasses has long ceased to be an article of direct consumption in this country. In some parts of New England it is used upon the table, but the bulk of the import is now submitted to a process of reboiling in order to extract the considerable quantity of low grade bastard sugar thereby obtained, which is utilized by refiners. What remains after this process is variously known to the trade as sugar house molasses, black strap and treacle, and is used by distillers and molasses mixers. Under these circumstances raw molasses occupies the position of raw material, and its value is therefore more directly influenced by the fluctuations of the sugar market. The sugar crop of the West India islands during 1884 was generally abundant and the quantity of molasses produced was considerably in excess of the previous year, but with the exception of Cuba and Porto Rico the shipments made to this country show a material falling off as compared with previous years. From these two islands, however, which furnish the bulk of the supply, there has been an increase, the total receipts for the year being considerably in excess of those of 1883. The production of syrup from sorghum continues to be an important industry in Kansas and a few other western and southwestern states, and the annual yield is roughly estimated at 1,000,000 gallons, but there are no reliable statistics as to the actual production, and the product has scarcely yet become an article of commerce.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past forty-eight hours 22,318 ctls wheat, 521 bbls flour, 1552 ctls oats, 4[illegible] ctls bran, 61[illegible] ctls millstuff, 1408 sks potatoes, 55[illegible] eggs, 150 bxs fruit, 19 pkgs butter. Also 5,00[illegible] ctl wheat, 450 bbls flour, 220 lbs hides from the eastern section.

FREIGHTS—The loading fleet now comprises seven vessels, two of which are well along. Regarding the market there is nothing of interest to report. The same indisposition on the part of shippers to contract new business being noted. At San Francisco the spot market is wholly lifeless.

WHEAT—Foreign advices are of rather steadier markets without any actual advance. Our own market rules very quiet but quite firm in a local way. Very few sales have been reported to shippers in the past few days and full prices are demanded by holders. The bulk of what little there is doing is [illegible] in the interior where $1 20 has occasionally been shaded. Here it is quite impossible to obtain desirable parcels at anything less. Walla Walla is in light receipt and mostly for shipment.

BARLEY—Whole sold at $18 per ton. Trade is light as there is little call for this cereal.

OATS—Market quiet but fairly steady. Offering prices are as last reported and quotations are without change.

POTATOES—Choice being in better request at San Francisco the local feeling has improved and full prices are paid here for shipment.

PROVISIONS—Eastern sorts again in larger receipt but prices are not cut. Quotations are as last given.

POULTRY—Chickens quoted $4@4 50. Ducks sold at $7, some dealers asking more.

EGGS—Quote 18c. Receipts have lessened somewhat but the quotation is not expected to be changed very soon. The future of the market hinges upon arrivals.

THE KOOTENAI COUNTRY.

SAND POINT, Idaho, Feb 8, 1885.
To the Editor of the Oregonian:

There is little doing here now, but we have every reason to be satisfied with the prospect as the Kootenai country is going to be one of the best mining districts in the province of British Columbia, or perhaps in the United States, inside of five years. There are several wealthy capitalists interested in these mines who have expended and are expending a large amount of money in their development. The Ainsworth company, or what is known as the Kootenai and Columbia Railroad and Transportation Company, have expended over $2[illegible] in the last two seasons on their mines, land grant and roads, and will perhaps spend $[illegible]000 to $1,000,000 more within the next two years, to perfect their title to 750,000 acres of land granted to them by the British Columbia government, in consideration of their building a railroad from the navigable waters of the Kootenai lake to the Columbia river, a distance of twenty-five or thirty miles, where they can have steamboat connection with the Canadian Pacific railroad at Eagle Pass, at the second crossing of the Columbia river. This will be the cheapest way to get goods in from Victoria or Canada, to this section of the province, and give an outlet to the ore of the numerous mining claims, now located, and which will be worked successfully in the near future to the astonishment of the silver kings of California and Nevada. The ore is of low grade on the surface. But a few claims, worked last summer, went from $[illegible] per ton on top to $257 per ton at thirty feet below the surface.

The Kootenai Mining and Smelting Company, Dr Hendry manager, is building a wagon road from the N P R R at Mud slough to the Kootenai river near Boomer's ferry, a distance of thirty-eight miles, in order to bring in a quartz mill and smelter this season, also a sawmill which they have now on the ground sawing out timbers to bridge the several small creeks and Pack river. They also intend to build two steamboats and barges on the Kootenai river and lake for the convenience of passengers and to take freight to the mines from Boomer's ferry, as they will necessarily have to go from Sand Point until the Kootenai and Columbia River Railroad and Transportation Company have their road and boats built. There are one or two other companies interested in the Kootenai mines, who propose having steamers of their own, and take it altogether, I think there will be plenty of employment for the idle next year in this section of the country, with good wages and plenty of room to prospect.

The Pend d'Oreille mines are promising and will show up very favorably next season. Those mines are placer and quartz, but principally quartz. They are about 120 miles down the Pend d'Oreille river from Sand point, and as there are only two short portages to make between here and the mines, this is the cheapest and easiest way to get to them. I have some specimens of rock from those mines and had it assayed, and find it goes very high in silver, considering that it is only surface rock. There are now about fifty men in those mines and 150 more at Spokane Falls and this point waiting for the ice to break up in the river, to go down. The mines are about five miles from the 49th parallel in Stevens county, Washington territory. The placer claims are not very extensive, but will pay from $2 to $5 per day. Geo Curry thinks the quartz will throw Leadville in the shade. I hope so, but fear this assertion will not prove true. Still few can tell what they will amount to until thoroughly prospected.

There is no doubt but they are an extension of the Kootenai lake mines, as the same belt can be traced from the Pend d'Oreille river to the Kootenai lake. Between those two camps I expect to see 6000 men working before many years. We only want men with money to come here and see for themselves.

Last year, just about this time, I told you my impressions of the Cœur d'Alene mines—every word of which came true. I was in there recently, and was more than satisfied with the prospects of the camp. Every one in there seems to be of the same opinion—that it is going to be one of the greatest mining camps in the country in a year or two—but of course every one who has a claim has not the means to open it out as he would wish to, but after they once get in ditches and plenty of water this difficulty will, in a great measure, be overcome. Goods are being hauled in at present from Thompson Falls to Murray for one cent and a half per pound, one half less than they charged for freight last summer. The mail comes from Murray to Thompson Falls in six and a half hours, which place is picking up again. J. R.

LEBANON NOTES.

LEBANON, Feb 9.

The city treasury was repleted during the week with $32 from fines.

The fall wheat is in fine condition and looks better than usual at this time of year.

I Banta, ex-marshal, with his family has gone to California to make that his future home.

Lebanon Grange has been discontinued. The members, or what were left, uniting with the Rock Hill lodge.

There is some fear among fruit men that the cold sleet and snow of last month will prove damaging to the crop.

Rev. Sharp, of Brownsville, delivered a lecture on Saturday evening before the literary society of the academy, which was considered a rare treat.

The ladies, on last Friday evening, gave a social banquet for the benefit of the fire department. The attendance was large and the supper splendid. The Albany brass band, with many others from there were present. The entertainment was a success in every particular, and resulted in a net sum of $25, which was turned over to the fire company.

Harper's Missing Man

Salt Lake Tribune.

There is a great deal of speculation if not consternation over the fact that Conant, one of the editors of Harper's Weekly, has gone away, and no trace of him can be found. It ought not to be thought strangely of. His abrupt departure from the haunts which he has so long frequented is not any more sudden or unexpected than the sudden leaving, by George W Curtis, last summer, of all the principles he had for twenty years and more affected to believe in. In the Chicago convention he described the democratic party as simply "a conspiracy for spoils," and then went home and devoted all the ability and energy that he possessed to place that party in power. Probably the complaint is catching in that office, and it should not be held as strange if an obscure man like Conant has imitated his chief. We think it is probable that Conant has wandered off and died. In that case, he will be entitled to a thousand times more credit than attaches to Curtis. Conant dead would be a better man than Curtis living.

A Natural Assumption

New York Tribune.

Isn't this rather an unfortunate admission to come from the New York organ of the Cleveland democracy? "Whenever a lawyer in Wisconsin or Michigan retires from the business now," says the World, "the telegraph reports that he is probably going into Mr Cleveland's cabinet." This is a most natural assumption for the telegraph to make. If Cleveland is fit to be president, why can't any lawyer in Wisconsin or Michigan who might not reasonably aspire to a seat in his cabinet? Does the World expect a servant to be greater than his lord?
